

White Label Servers and SaaS

White Label Servers and SaaS solution allows for you to take on your own brand name and logo. This allows for you to have access to UCView products, including all of the same features and user experience at one low price.

For example, instead of using the default UCView.com domain name, you can use your own domain name. This allows for you to personalize the server or SaaS so customers can believe they are logging into your own system, rather than UCView's.

The SaaS hosting option allows for resellers to charge a monthly fee for interested customers. Resellers who select the SaaS hosting option are also given full 24/7 support and maintenance.

This solution is ideal for companies who don't want to invest a lot of money, but still want a ready-made digital signage platform without having to deal with other hassles, such as developing the product.

A white label server or SaaS is extremely beneficial as it eliminates the stress of having to create and maintain the software, and at the same time allows for you to sell the product under your own brand name.
